

ABSTRACT

A printing fluid dispenser system comprising a number of printing fluid dispensers each including: one of a number of printing fluids; a feature configured to locate the dispenser at predetermined location upon an inkjet printer component to be refilled; and an outlet located at one of a number of predetermined positions relative to the feature depending upon the type of printing fluid within said dispenser .

5